

Mobile Generation – QA tester at international Mobile and Social Media marketing agency in the heart of Amsterdam

MobGen

Mobile Generation (MobGen) is a full-service mobile marketing agency that helps national and international brands with the implementation of creative marketing activities into the mobile channel such as cross platform applications, online social media applications and HTML5 mobile banner campaigns. MobGen recently implemented a Social Media specialized division as well as an online gaming development division. Are you able to operate all of MobGen's hardware, networks, operating systems?

Join MobGen's talent program in Amsterdam for an exciting period of five or six months. MobGen has local offices in Amsterdam, Toronto, and São Paulo. MobGen's headquarters is situated in the very heart of Amsterdam where an energetic and creative team of 50 people work in an informal atmosphere. MobGen works for clients such as Shell International, ABNAMRO, Bosch, Heinz, Dutch National Lottery among others.

You can find more information on: www.mobgen.com

Job description

Be part of a young international team and company, which delivers high-end products to the mobile market. Work closely with the development and design teams, making sure the combination of the perfect software functionality and look is made. Work with some of the biggest and most demanding customers in the market like Shell, Vodafone, ABN AMRO, CBRE, Unibet and others. Develop understanding of what makes a better mobile product, making sure customers are delivered with the best possible result. Become part of a rapidly growing company, with many opportunities and possibilities for personal development

Responsibilities

- As a QA tester, you will be part of a team in charge of ensuring our customers are getting the best quality mobile apps.
- You will be in charge of finding issues, understanding why they happen and helping the development team in fixing them as well as offering improvements you believe will make the apps the best mobile products in the market.
- The apps are aimed at various target audience and require a dynamic and analytic perception of software and mobile apps.

Job requirements

- A degree or studying of relevant fields
- Available for at least 6 months in Amsterdam
- Strong logical and analytical skills
- Affinity to mobile platforms and apps, and the will to learn and develop
- Independent and pro-active
- Knowledge of product testing and QA

We offer

- Paid talent program;
- Start period: January 2012
- Great deal of personal responsibility;
- Learning from an experienced top-team;
- Work setting is a beautiful location in the center of Amsterdam;
- Opportunity to become part of a fast growing international mobile marketing agency.

Contact information

Interested to become part of MobGen? Send a short motivation letter with CV (including portfolio or links to applications) to: [jobs\[at\]mobgen.com](mailto:jobs[at]mobgen.com) regarding 'MobGen QA tester'

REMINDER employment agencies, placement agencies, etc.: Acquisition to this vacancy is not appreciated.